Iva Toguri D'Aqunio, left, of Chicago, alias Tokyo Rose for nearly 30 years, hands a petition to San Francisco Postmaster Lim P. Lee during a Wednesday news conference. She is seeking President Gerald Ford's pardon on a treason conviction. State Assemblyman Floyd Mori of Pleasanton, upper left, has led local efforts to win that pardon.

Rose files, Mori confident

The crusade to redeem the name of Tokyo Rose, a cause which the valley's Assemblyman, Floyd Mori, has championed, took another step toward a long - sought pardon for the woman's name yesterday.

It was Tokyo Rose herself — also known by her real name, Iva Toguri D'Aquino — who took the step by mailing a petition to President Ford to grant her a pardon.

American citizens, notably Japanese - Americans, have been working for the past two years to clear her of a treason conviction tn 1949 for the Japanese propaganda radio broadcasts she made from Tokyo to American service personnel in World War II. Research has shown that she was an American - born citizen trapped in circumstances in Tokyo during the war and she actually in many cases boosted morale of American service personnel with her broadcasts. Evidence also has been uncovered that her 1949 treason trial in San Francisco allegedly was rigged — the prosecution pressured potential defense witnesses so they would not testify.

Assemblyman Mori obtained passage of a California Legislature resolution calling on President Ford to grant a full pardon to Toguri, who now is a senior citizen living in Chicago.

The Ford Administration told Mori that the White House could do nothing until Toguri herself filed a formal peitition for a pardon. This was delayed during the election because Toguri's advisors felt that a pardon for her could become a political football. Now that the election has passed, Toguri has filed the petition.

Toguri had a formal ceremony in mailing her petition to President Ford yesterday. She chose the steps of the old federal courthouse in San Francisco, the place where she was convicted of treason and now the building which houses the postal headquarters where Postmaster Lim P. Lee has his offices. The ceremony consisted of Toguri handing the registered letter to Lee, who will mail it to the White House.

Mori was invited to the ceremoney yesterday, but a committee hearing on post - secondary education in Hayward all day prevented his attendance. He said he is optimistic that President Ford will grant the pardon. If he does not act, his successor, Jimmy Carter, is likely to do it, said Mori.

Mori said that when his bill urging Ford to grant the pardon passed the Legislature, he got a letter of thanks from Toguri.

Toguri yesterday at the ceremonies told the assembled press, including the national television networks, "I'd like to have my citizenship restored so the possibility of deportation can never be brought up again. It's a question of relief and peace of mind."

"I've lived on this merry - go - round for almost 30 years and it's time to get off," she said. "Actually it would be more or less general feelings of freedom that I want. You don't realize the significance of such a thing until you lose it."

Toguri said she is hopeful for the pardon because times have changed since her conviction and her previous unsuccessful pardon requests in 1954 and 1968.

Pleasanton for growth, no New Town

PLEASANTON — Las Positas Valley, property rights, and Councilman William Herlihy's opposition to too much public land on the ridgetops highlighted the Alameda County Planning Commission's public hearing on the valley general plan revisions Wednesday night.

The meeting at Foothill High School attracted 50 or 60 valley residents and went nearly three hours as people were called on by the rows to walk to the microphone and give their views about how the valley should look 20 years from now.

Pleasanton Mayor Robert Philcox told the commission that his city council has decided it likes option 2c best among four alternatives which the county could take in mapping out the valley's general plan. The alternative calls for growth in Livermore and Pleasanton according to the general plans they have adopted recently and no development of Harlan Geldermann's proposal for a New Town in the Las Positas Valley.

Property owners in the Las Positas Valley expressed a different view. Bill Thompson of Livermore said that the county board of supervisors approved New Town two years ago and "it's still a good plan." He recited his own ranching expenses and claimed that the books just don't balance out with black ink anymore in the Las Positas Valley.

Another speaker said that while farming may be declining in the valley, it never was good here. Land is better in Tracy, irrigation is available there, and yet that area is mushrooming in growth and will continue if the valley can't build houses to meet the market demand.

Even if alternative 2c is adopted, said New Town planner Ron Calhoun, there still will be pressure on the cities to grow. New Town is the escape valve to provide the housing, he said.

Herlihy spoke as a private citizen at the hearing. He has been involved in the past in efforts at preserving the Pleasanton and Sunol ridges for open space.

He expressed concern Wednesday night that most of the ridgelands is shown on the general plan as parklands. "That is a greedy approach," said Herlihy. "We are taking private lands and turning them into park lands."

Herlihy questioned how any agency will support all that area for park use. He thought that it should remain in private control of ranchers.

Commissioner William Carpenter recalled County Director of Public Works Herb Crowle's plan for a ridgetop parkway and asked if it is still "on the back burner."

"I suspect it's on the back burner," said Herlihy. "There is some value to the ridgetop parkway, but the question remains, who will pay the bill?"

The commission will hold another public hearing on the valley general plan at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 14 at 399 Elmhurst Ave., Hayward. Livermore Mayor Helen Tirsell urged commissioners to conduct a hearing in Livermore. The city council has not had time to review the proposed plan, she said.

Raymond talks about issues

Critics have charged her campaign was an all-out war on the incumbent, and that, to use the term currently in vogue, she "waffled" on answers to specific questions.

But with the results of this month's election now a cold part of history, Alameda County Supervisor - elect Valerie Raymond must, to borrow another phrase, "fish or cut bait" on the myriad problems posed by her constitutents.

Harlan Geldermann's proposed New Town for the Las Positas Valley "can't fly," she says flatly.

"Based on the information presented so far, I cannot believe New Town won't have an adverse impact on the existing cities that have been paying taxes all these years ... It won't solve any problems, not the ones in the city, nor the ones out here in the valley."

She would like to succeed John Murphy on the Local Agency Formation Commission, and would work actively to reshape Livermore's sphere of influence.

LAFCO's decision to constrict Livermore's sphere to its existing city limits is "assinine." But neither can she accept the city's arguments for a sphere reaching out to the Contra Costa County line.

"Poor land use," she says, "is damned expensive."

Dublin's prospects for cityhood "are up to them," although she personally believes the economics would justify incorporation over an-

Valerie delays aide choice

PLEASANTON — Supervisor elect Valerie Raymond has five applicants for administrative assistant, but is considering hiring two half-time aides instead of a single full-time assistant.

Speaking to the Pleasanton Democratic Club Tuesday night at the Pleasanton Hotel, Raymond said she wouldn't rush into a final decision on the aide choice. She had earlier stated she would select a Fremont resident for the spot.

The 36-year-old supervisor - elect said she is also considering two small offices, located in Fremont and the Valley, instead of a large office at one location.

Meeting with various department heads in county offices shows that there is much to learn since "the county has its fingers in many pies." She said she would meet the county health services director before taking a one-month vacation in December.

Among her first piorities would be establishment of regular meetings with local city councils in the Valley. Such meetings were not as badly needed in Fremont, she said, because of the land use problems here.

Occasional night meetings would encourage more community participation in county politics, she said. Raymond would also ask that supervisors meet in local communities when issues of major importance to those areas arise.

Raymond says although she can't vote on it, she opposes a proposal to increase supervisors' salaries. She adds that supervisors probably won't pass the issue when it comes to a vote in December.

The proposed extension of El Charro Road to divert large truck traffic from Pleasanton streets is one of the priorities Raymond said she would fight for when her term begins. "Pleasanton should have the option of getting trucks off its streets with an alternate route," she said.

Raymond said she will meet with Assemblyman Floyd Mori today to establish a line of communication on the property tax reform issue. Counties can give localized input to the tax reform issue, she said.

Murder suspect— 'not guilty'

OAKLAND — Jack Raymond Horner, charged in the shooting death of his wife in their Amador Valley Boulevard apartment Oct. 14, yesterday pleaded "not guilty" in superior court to those charges.

Horner appeared with attorney Leon Anderson before Judge Alan Lindsay yesterday long enough to enter the "not guilty" plea. Judge Lindsay set Dec. 17 at 9 a.m. for a pre-trial hearing, with Dec. 30 at 9 a.m. set as the trial date.

A former captain in the sheriff's department reserve, Horner was found in a semi-conscious state near his wife's body. Barbara Mae Horner, 49, had been killed by a single .38-caliber bullet to the head.

Horner maintained in a preliminary hearing that the gun discharged accidentally after he had handed the gun to his wife. The gun was found in her right hand.

Horner remains in Oakland courthouse jail in lieu of $100,000 bail.

A look at key Murray proviso

Murray School District classified employee representatives huddled with administration negotiators as contract bargaining continued Wednesday afternoon.

And while classified negotiations continued, Murray teachers were reviewing contract wording following ratification of an agreement by the district board Monday night.

The 1976-77 contract gives Murray teachers an advisory form of binding arbitration, a 6.32 per cent increase in salary and benefits, and a 180-day calendar.

The 35-page contract details agreements in 25 specific areas.

Among those subjects which administration and teacher reps bargained over the past six months were district and employee rights, work day, school calendar, salary and fringe benefits, association release time, grievances, safety conditions, class size, evaluation procedure, assignment and transfers, teacher exchange, leaves, temporary contract teachers, and concerted activities.

But the key issue proved to be binding arbitration of grievances.

Among the provisions of this section are the following:

"A 'grievance' is an alleged violation, misinterpretation or misapplication of the express terms of this agreement which directly and adversely affects the grievant. Actions to challenge or change the terms of this agreement shall not be considered a grievance. Matters for which a specific method of review is provided by law or by the terms of this agreement are not within the scope of this procedure.

"A 'grievant' is a member or members of the representation unit (teachers) covered by this agreement who files a grievance.

"Within five (5) days after the event or circumstances occasioning the grievance, the grievant shall initially meet with his or her immediate supervisor in an attempt to resolve the grievance informally.

"If the informal discussion fails to resolve the grievance to the satisfaction of the grievant, a formal grievance may be initiated in writing no later than seven (7) days after the informal discussion.

"The formal document shall be a clear, concise statement of the grievance, citing specific sections of the agreement allegedly violated, misinterpreted or misapplied, the circumstances involved, and the specific remedy sought.

"Within seven (7) days after the filing of the formal grievance, the immediate supervisor/principal shall investigate the grievance and give his or her decision in writing to the grievant.

"If the grievant is not satisfied with the decision rendered at the first level, he/she may appeal the decision with seven (7) days to the superintendent (Dr. Donald Williams) or his designee. The grievant may file a copy with the association (teachers). Within ten (10) days after the appeal is filed, the superintendent or his designee shall investigate the grievance and give his decision in writing to the grievant.

"If the grievant is not satisfied with the decision rendered at the second level, he or she may submit a request in writing within ten (10) days to the superintendent for arbitration."

This would start a third and final level of pursuing a grievance that would culminate in an impartial arbitrator being selected with the rules of the American Arbitration Association governing the arbitration.

After hearing the evidence, the arbitrator shall submit his or her findings and recommendations in writing to the school board and to the grievant. The decision would be rendered no later than the second regularly scheduled meeting after receipt of the advisory recommendations.

If the arbitrator's decision is to be binding pursuant to a decision under "Item B" (The board shall submit those grievances that are not found by the board to be detrimental to the efficient and effective operation of the school district to binding arbitration), the arbitrator's decision shall be binding.

The section on grievances covers 4½ pages of the contract.

Septic tank rules eyed by Zone 7

LIVERMORE —The Zone 7 water management board last night voted to study preparation of an ordinance setting down regulations for septic tank installations in the valley.

The board agreed to a staff recommendation that it sponsor a study to demonstrate the need for such regulations, along with implementation problems and associated costs.

Discussion centered on the possibility that such an ordinance would usurp power from the county board of supervisors. Zone 7 Director Archer Futch said that the ordinance would protect the valley's groundwater and wasn't designed to take power.

If concurrence from Pleasanton and Livermore city councils is obtained, the ordinance would have to be approved by supervisors.

In other action, Chester Anderson's request for a private waste water disposal system was referred for further study to the board's waste water committee.

Anderson has asked for Zone 7 supervision in building and operating a private sewage system for a proposed 300-unit apartment complex on 57 acres his family has owned for 80 years.

The Anderson property is just beyond the Livermore city limits and is bounded by Portola Avenue and one side and Interstate 580 on the other.

Livermore man sought

A former Livermore resident is being sought for questioning in the case of a42-foot boat stolen from Oakland early Tuesday, Oakland police said yesterday.

A driver's license belonging to Leon Gulzow, 35, was found on the boat when it washed up on shore at Ocean Beach Tuesday. No persons were aboard the boat.

A pound of marijuana, hypodermic needles, pills and a loaded .38-caliber revolver were reportedly found aboard the craft.

An Oakland police department spokesman said that Robert Amos of Oakland told officers he had sold the boat three years ago to Gulzow. Police said Amos repossessed the boat Monday for nonpayment, and discovered it missing the next morning.

Police said Gulzow, a former tool and die operator in Livermore, had operated the boat for the past three years, sailing up and down the California coast. Sleeping bags, camera and a gun all reportedly belonging to Gulzow were found aboard the boat, police said.

A driver's license belonging to Jeanne Van Eijk of San Francisco was also found. Police said Van Eijk was a girlfiriend of Gulzow.

County tells church to seek exemption

LIVERMORE — County Supervisor Fred F. Cooper has notified Mayor Helen Tirsell no county decision will be made until Feb. 2 on the Unitarian Fellowship's request for a septic tank permit.

The Fellowship ran to the county after it applied to the city for a sewer hookup, only to discover the city's conditions could escalate cost of the hook up from $3,000 to $30,000.

"We felt they should go through the regular legal process of applying to the Livermore City Council for an exemption from some of your requirements before coming to us," Cooper said in a letter.

He said the Feb. 2 decisions "will depend to some degree on what the City of Livermore does with their application."

"The recent election on the sewer bond issue indicated that a majority of the voters in the Valley were not totally dedicated to preventing further degredation of groundwaters," he said. "I am not sure what the implication of that fact should be on our decisions."

Cooper said he supports county policy requiring property owners to develop residential streets, but added "I do not think it proper to require a property owner to improve a state highway, although such a property owner should be required to donate the land necessary."

Livermore's planning staff told Unitarian Fellowship officials one condition to hooking up to the city's sewer system would to pay for installation of street improvements along their property, which is located on First Street, Highway 84.

Tirsell said the Fellowship had never officially submitted an application to the city council.

nexation to Pleasanton.

She also will be examining county commissions in the next few weeks with an eye to her appointments.

Her lack of seniority on the five-member board may inhibit her commission assignments, but she would like to serve on the Association of Bay Area Governments and perhaps the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board.

"I'm not opposed to a dude ranch, per se," she says in reference to Bill Apperson's proposed Diamond A Ranch on the Pleasanton Ridge. "The scale as I believe it still is — and remember, all the details I've gotten out of it are from the newspapers — seems too urbanized and too intensive for the acreage he's got."

What she wants, she adds, is a board of supervisors' decision on standards for "dude ranches" in the county.

"Planning," she adds tersely, "is supposed to be thinking ahead."

The idea of dude ranches or working ranches or open space in private hands "is not abhorent" to her as her critics charged. But taxing them as potential development is "absurd."

"There is more land being taxed for development in the valley than can ever be developed," she says repeatedly.

She meets with Assemblyman Floyd Mori this morning to set up meetings to discuss solutions to county property tax problems.

Carl Nipper's proposal for 96 homes in the hills overlooking Sunol "will present some serious problems" for that hamlet.

"I frankly can't figure any way past the access problem," she says of Nipper's proposal, "nor the precedents for his questionable sewage system.

"It's not an appropriate place for a subdivision."

Bobye Baird on call

Nurse practitioner

Load off the doctor

SAN RAMON — When you go to the Family Medical Center with a sore throat or another minor complaint, you may be examined by a friendly lady with big dark eyes, a sunny smile and a "WOMEN HOLD UP HALF THE SKY" button.

It's Bobye Baird, the center's new nurse practitioner, who teams up with physicians and nurses to offer complete medical care to West Valley residents.

More than a nurse, Bobye holds a master's degree from UC Davis in the Family Nurse Practitioner field. In addition to traditional nursing training at Fresno State, she underwent an intensive 18 - month program at Davis' school of medicine including courses in diagnosis of disease and extensive clincal experience in handling of common medical problems.

Bobye can set a simple fracture, stitch up a wound, treat a cold and watch over patients with chronic but stable illnesses, such as heart disease and hypertension.

"It takes a lot of the common everyday workload away from the physicians," she explains. "And it cuts down the waiting time and gives patients the complete medical care they should have."

"Complete," to Bobye, means plenty of preventive medicine as well as treatment for sudden problems. She does a lot of family planning, weight counseling, talking with parents about child growth and development and teaching behavior modification for treatment of stress headaches — giving patients the special attention physicians may not have time for.

Getting to know the patients is what Bobye likes best about her job. "We're interested in continuity of care," she says. "Patients can see the same physician each time they come here, and I keep regular hours of 9 - 5, weekdays, although the center is open 9 - 9, seven days a week and holidays."

The little yellow button she wears has sparked some comments about "Women's Lib" from patients.

"Women's Lib? I really don't know what that means," she says in her soft voice.

"But I do know that I'm my own person."

Being a nurse practitioner has also drawn questions from people who had expected to be seen by a doctor. "They're very accepting in this community," she observes. "I make it a point of letting them know who I am, and that I'm not out there all alone treating them but that I'm part of a team."

Bobye practiced at Highland Hospital for a year and also worked for a prepaid health plan in Oakland before joining the Family Medical Center (affiliated with Valley Memorial Hospital) last month.

A Walnut Creek resident, she enjoys tennis and bicycling. And, sorry, guys — she's getting married next spring!

Colorful building exec steps down

Announcement of William T. Leonard's impending resignation as executive director of the Associated Building Industry of Northern California will remove a lively and often controversial figure from this Valley's building scene.

Leonard was a well-known participant in many "growth battles" in this area as he fought to defend the rights of developers and builders during that period when the several Valley communities were tapering off their own growth trends.

Leonard is quitting the ABI post he has held for the past 16 years in order to join the Hofman Company as vice president in charge of forward planning. Hofman is a major Bay Area builder headquartered in Concord. Leonard makes his move effective Dec. 31.

Plan set to develop by school

SAN RAMON — A plan for developing 74 single family homes next to Shapell houses and Walt Disney School will be considered by the San Ramon Homeowners Association Thursday night.

The association will meet at 7:30 in the faculty lounge at Walt Disney School.

Dale Hornberger, representing the consulting engineering firm of Creegan and DeAngelo, will present the plan. The developer is Crocker Homes.

There will be a discussion of the precinct breakdown regarding incorporation of San Ramon Valley. The issue, Measure K on the Nov. 2 ballot, failed.

Dream up a perfect job, find your favorite skills and spread your wings!

By Lucy Hobgood-Brown

How often have you dreamed of The Perfect Job? If you're like most people, you have a vague idea of what your fantasy work area will look like, what you will be doing and how much money you will bring in.

Now is the time to change your fantasy into a reality — and it can be done! According to Viki Zenoff, a Career Alternatives specialist, it's never too late to alter your "flight plan".

At a recent class entitled "Economic Survival in the Arts", Ms. Zenoff discussed mastering the latest techniques in skills-identification, interviewing for information and finding the people with the power to hire.

The workshop, based on a process developed by Richard N. Bolles and explained in his book, "What Color is Your Parachute?", was part of a ten week course offered by Chabot College, and organized by the Alameda County Neighborhood Arts Program. While the course is aimed at providing professional artists with a survey of economic survival skills, such as writing grants and approaching foundations, it is also open to the public free of charge.

If you are dissatisfied with your present job or are currently unemployed, Ms. Zenoff suggests writing down your skills — which should include everything you do well and like doing.

"By taking the time to look inside yourself," she declares, "you will get in touch with yourself. It's a jump into nowhere to go see a client or go for a job interview without having a clear picture of your skills."

Once you have identified your skills, write down the seven "high experiences" in your life. "Anything that makes you feel good to remember," Ms. Zenoff says.

Now go back and describe in detail what you did under each of those items. What skills did you use? Since all jobs are categorized in dealing with people, data or things, Ms. Zenoff asks that you first identify which class the experience falls in, then decide if you used your skills efficiently. "Be specific!" she demands.

A less tedious, but equally necessary, part of your self-analysis, comes in determining your ideal working environment by analyzing the past and pinpointing distasteful working conditions. Follow this by deciding on your preferred people environments. Do you enjoy working with quiet or jolly, out-going people? Do you work best with those who are multi-talented, or are organizers?

Now you are on the last leg of your flight plan! Ms. Zenoff suggests that you activity identify a leisure time and set out for a practice field survey. The survey's purpose is to qather information.

You should choose an area in which you are an "expert" — if you are a health food addict, visit a health food store on your practice survey. You will ask questions of another expert with confidence, such as what sells well, which store in the area is the most respected.

Ms. Zenoff stresses that everyone is glad to give free information; at the same time, you are building contacts (everyone you know, knows others.).

"Call your new contacts," she says. "Tell them your skills and pick their brains for information on what's happening in your field."

After a few practice sessions, Ms. Zenoff believes you will be ready to begin an informational survey on your own profession. Narrow down the job possibilities to those you would enjoy — to the ideal job.

In business for herself, Ms. Zenoff has led many seminars designed to hlp th unemployed, under-employed and career-changers. She is one of many experts asked by the Neighborhood Arts Program to speak to the class, which is held every Monday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The Tale Spinners will be featured at the Nov. 22 class, which will be held in the Alameda Co. Public Works Building's auditorium. A performing group consisting of senior citizens and young people, the Tale Spinners are singers and dancers funded under the federal government's Comprehensive Education Training Act (CETA), administered through the city's Neighborhood Arts Program.

Future classes will also include tips on government funding, how to approach foundations and grant writing. For more information contact Jim Fizdale of the Neighborhood Arts Program at 653-7880.

Alma Renko recycles tin cans into tin art, using barber shears and the oven broiler!

Ladybug comes to town

Like many of the participants in the sixth annual Ladyug Boutique, Alma Renko is a self-taught craftswoman. A San Ramon resident for eight years, the active mother of three manages to find time to collect driftwood, horseshoes and whatever else catches her eye to make Tin Art.

One of over 50 exhibitors at the Pleasanton Fairgrounds Cafeteria Nov. 17-18, Alma has been developing her craft for only five years. Old tin cans are the mainstay of Alma's metallic creations, which range from flower-laden wall plaques to a crafty-eyed crocodile with a grin.

Using ordinary barber shears, a strong glue and her oven broiler, Alma cuts, arranges and burns in coppery highlights to eventually form an original design. A nearby ranch supplies much of the driftwood and cracked leather that adds spice to many of Alma's tin creations.

Alongside the glittering Tin Art at the Lady Bug Boutique, holiday shoppers will also find macrame jewelry, patchwork, paintings, denim items, handcrafted glass and much more.

The Boutique will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday. A bake sale will also be underway, and Pleasanton's La Trattoria La Villa will sell food and wine.

This weekend

Gem and mineral show

Imagine mounting a tiny crystal almost too small to see onto the head of a pin with such precision that upon examination with a microscope, no speck of dust or glue can be seen to mar its beauty?

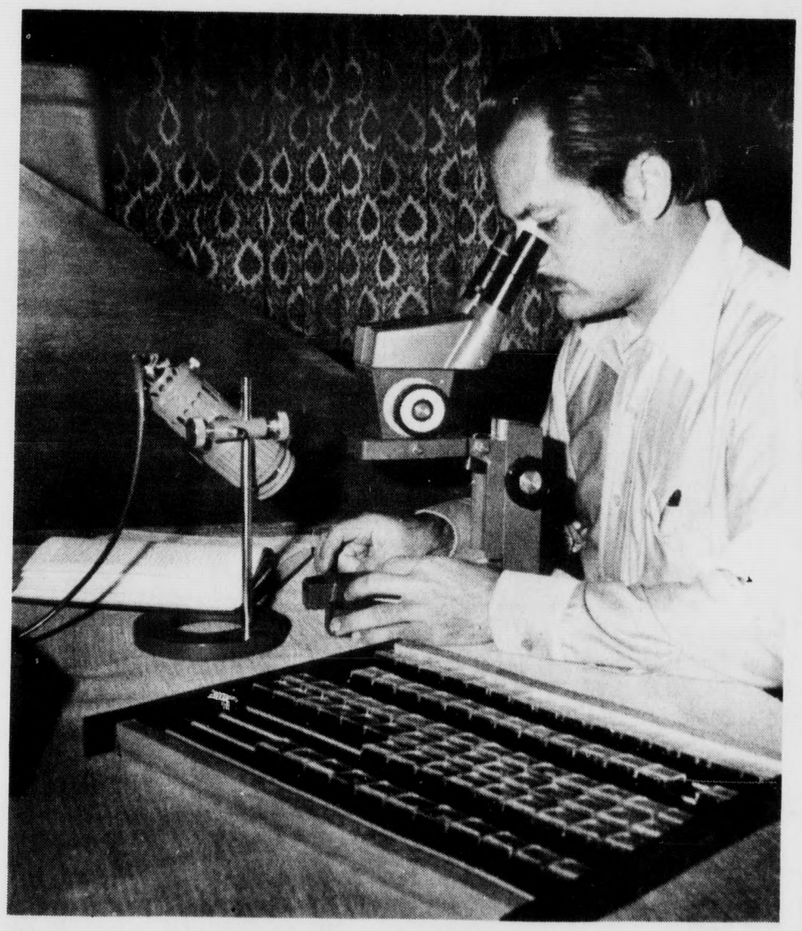
Micro-mounts is the name of the game pursued by mineral collectors who delight in showing off the tiniest and rarest specimens to perfection in displays that are best appreciated when seen through a microscope. Among those enthusiasts is Bill Berieger of Livermore who has already prepared 200 micromounts, with 2,000 yet to mount!

Bill and his wife, Joan, have for many years specialized in the preparation of educational displays of minerals — a hobby which utilizes knowledge of earth science, creativity in conceptualization and in layout, as well as a bent for perfection.

Bill is chairman of the upcoming gem and mineral show hosted by the Livermore Valley Lithophiles at The Barn Nov. 20 and 21.

The free show features nearly 50 display cases of lapidary, jewelry, carving, minerals and fossils.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. A drawing will be held for prizes that include framed natural sandstone, silver-turquoise necklace, and Septarian nodule from Utah.



Bill Berieger, chairman of this weekend's gem and mineral show at Livermore, mounts a tiny crystal of Benitoite with the aid of a microscope to form a micro-mount.

Exchange topics set

The San Ramon - Amador Valley Exchange Club luncheon schedule has Christmas holiday speakers lined up through Dec. 16. The meetings are held each Thursday from noon until 1:10 p.m. at the Hungry Hunter in Pleasanton. Scheduled speakers include William Troxel Nov. 18 on "Voluntary Service Program and the Utilization of Community Resources," with Dr. Charles W. Brydon addressing the group Dec. 2 on "Leningrad: Gateway to the Affluent Society." Dec. 9 is the date set for Harry C. Sweet, Jr. to present a program of choral Christmas music by music students at Dublin High School. "The Spirit of Liberty" is the topic chosen by Richard King for the group's Dec. 16 meeting.

Pancake feed

Proceeds from a pan cake breakfast set for Nov. 21 will go to fund recreational activities for Project Kickback, a youth alternative program under the auspices of Hotline.

The doors of Pleasanton's Veterans Memorial Building will open at 7:30 a.m. and close at 1 p.m. Tickets are on sale at $2.25 for adults and $1.50 for children and senior citizens. For tickets in advance, call Hotline at 462-5544 or contact Project Kickback members.

Italian food

The Pleasanton Rebekah Lodge will host an Italian dinner, followed by bingo, on Nov. 20 at 6 p.m. in the Odd Fellow's Hall on St. Mary's St.

One bingo card will be given with every dinner ticket ($3.50 adults, children 12 and under $1.75).

Italian Mass coming

People of Italian heritage will have the opportunity to celebrate a Mass in Italian on Nov. 21 at 4 p.m. at St. Michael's Parish in Livermore. Following the afternoon Mass, a pasta and salad dinner will be served in the Parish hall for $2.50 (over 12 years) and $1.50 (12 to 6 years). Those five years old and under will be admitted free.

Those planning to attend the pasta dinner should make reservations by calling Patricia Mueller at 447-0716, Herb DiGrazia at 447-1715 or Remo Scagliotti at 443-0141

Italian Masses will also be celebrated on Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Confessions in Italian or English will be heard from 3 to 4 p.m. Nov. 21; 6:45 to 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 22; 6:45 to 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 23. The Celebrant for this Italian Triduum will be Father Favero of San Carlos.

Benefit for needy children

Visions of sugar plums come true

Once upon a time long ago, at an old-fashioned Christmas party, three children each received a gift. Maria received the best gift of all — a magical Nutcracker which turns into a handsome Prince.

The Prince and Maria journey to the Land of the Snows, and the exotic kingdom of the Sugar Plum Fairy. There they are royally entertained by enchanting characters from many lands.

Thus, The Nutcracker Ballet unfolds on the stage of the Amador Valley High School Auditorium in Pleasanton Thursday, Dec. 2 in two performances at 4 and 8 p.m. The full-length production by the Oakland Ballet Company has been arranged through the efforts of the Toyland Chapter of the Children's Home Society in Pleasanton and its president, Joan Dailey.

Elaborate sets and costumes will augment the two-hour extravaganza. A Russian setting will emphasize the origins of the story, according to Director Ronn Guidi, and in the second act a new dance will interpret the various musical themes.

One of the principal roles will be danced by Stacey Swaner of Castro Valley. At sixteen, Miss Swaner is one of the youngest members of the company although she has already executed many leading roles. In July, Miss Swaner participated in the Varna International de Concourse Competition in Bulgaria as one of only five Americans.

Miss Swaner was featured in the recent television coverage of that competition shown nationwide by NBC.

Stacey started her training at the age of five, and by the time she was eight, had toured the United States, Canada, Japan, the Philippines and Hong Kong. She has been with the Oakland Ballet under Guidi's guidance since the age of ten.

This year's production of The Nutcracker again spotlights veteran character actor and dancer Arthur Conrad in the role of the magical Uncle Drosselmeyer. Also among principal soloists are Tricia Kaye, Sally Streets, Janet Carole, John Sullivan, David McNaughton, Robert Warner and other young talents.

Prices for tickets to the Pleasanton performance have been set at a reasonable rate — matinee admission at $4 ($3.50 for groups), evening admission at $5 ($6 for reserved seats). To date, the matinee performance is nearly sold-out; good seats are still available for the evening performance.

Tickets are on sale Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Sage Books in Pleasanton or Curtis Music in Livermore.

Roberta Wain solos in Oakland 'Messiah'

Contralto Roberta Wain, a former valley resident, will perform in the Oakland Symphony Chamber Orchestra's "Messiah" Christmas concert at the Paramount Theatre in Oakland next month.

The performances under the baton of Maestro Harold Farberman are set Dec. 11 at 8:30 p.m. and Dec. 12 at 3 p.m. Seats, ranging in price from $3.50 to $7.50, may be reserved by calling the Paramount box office at 465-6400.

Ms. Wain has just returned from a season with the Israel National Opera Company where she was engaged for over 175 performances. She received a scholarship to the University of Southern California, and furthered her vocal training with Boris Goldovsky at Sonoma. With 40 operatic roles in her repertoire, Ms. Wain has an impressive list of professional performances.

The romantic Snow Pas de Deux from the beloved 'Nutcracker' will be executed by Stacey Swaner and Robert Warner of the Oakland Ballet in two performances at Pleasanton Dec. 2 under the sponsorship of the Children's Home Society.

Ready for the show

'Main Street Memories' is the title of the painting Carol Waugh of Pleasanton has entered in the Pleasanton Art League's fall fine arts show. The show is open to public viewing Saturday, Nov. 20 and Sunday, Nov. 21 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Center on Black Avenue. 'Art-A-Plenty' boasts entries in categories which include oils, watercolors, pastels, graphics, sculpture-pottery, jewelry, textiles, and mixed media. Ribbons and cash awards have been assigned by Judges Carole Austin, Robert and Jane Nash. Show chairman is Barbara Van Slyke.

inside the arts

'Christmas in Mexico'

The Chabot College Foundation will present the Ballet Folklorico Mexicano in "Christmas in Mexico" at 8 p.m. Dec. 17 and 18 at the Chabot College - Community Auditorium in Hayward.

Proceeds from the performances will benefit the Foundation, a nonprofit corporation which awards scholarships and loans to students residing in the South County Community College District so they may obtain education beyond the secondary or high school level.

This year's program features an entire new suite of Aztec dances choreographed by the ballet's director, Carlos Moreno. Music will be provided by the Mariachi Nuevo Aztlan.

Suggested donations are $2.50 for adults and $1 for Gold Card holders and children under 12. The donations are tax deductible.

Further information is available from the Chabot College Office of Community Services, telephone 782-3000, ext. 415.

At the gallery

Edna and Melody Tunison of Livermore will show you how to make arty Christmas gifts such as the jewelry they model Saturday, Nov. 20 at the Livermore Art Association Gallery, located in the Carnegie Building. The public is welcome to meet the artists from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and observe Edna making zipper-art ornaments, Melody creating ceramic jewelry and ornaments.

Poets to converge

The first major Bay Area poetry event in many years will occur today and tomorrow at the Veteran's Memorial Auditorium, Van Ness and McAllister Streets streets, San Francisco.

Nationally known poets Robert Bly, William Everson (formerly published as Brother Antoninus), Dianne DiPrima, Andrei Codrescu and David Meltzer will be joined by Jack Hirschman, Barbara Szerlip and Poncho Aguila for the reading tonight.

Gary Snyder, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Bob Kaufman, Kay McDonough, and Fernando Alegria will share the bill with Bobbie Louise Hawkins, Wayne Miller and Herb Middleton.

Admission is $3 at the door, $2.75 in advance at Cody's Books, Berkeley, and all California Bass outlets. For information, dial TELETIX or in Livermore, call 443-2155, the local BASS outlet.

East Bay Singles soiree slated

East Bay Singles will sponsor a pre - Thanksgiving party at the home of a member in Oakland on Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Dancing will be to the professional tapes of Clark Hall. To learn more details about the party, call either Harriette Longaker at 935-5700, or Edna Heatherly, 530-9110, officers in the Singles' organization.

Golf at Pine Meadows on Saturdays at 9:45 a.m. in Pacheco, and bowling on Sundays (except the first Sunday each month) at 2 p.m. at the Pleasant Hill Lanes, 2265 Contra Costa Blvd., are regular features.

Cask 'n Mask

The Cask and Mask Players will assemble at the home of Michael and Virginia Gregory, 1634 College Ave, Livermore, tonight at 8 p.m. for a presentation by the Forensic Team of Chabot College's Valley Campus.

The team is coached by Ed Cates and Colleen McGoff. Cask and Mask friends are welcome to attend.

DEC. 3 'PAINT AND PAPER.' Two-woman showing of handmade paper by Karen Jenkins and acrylic paintings by Margaret Franks opens at State Savings and Loan in Livermore. Open free to the public through February.

DEC. 18 CHRISTMAS CONCERT. Livermore Civic Chorus appears at the Presbyterian Church in Livermore at 8:15 p.m. with Christmas carols and classical selections.

Last Friday's edition of The Times carried front page coverage of the valley's fledgling performing arts cmpany, an enterprise that in time could be in the vanguard of all artistic endeavors undertaken throughout the valley.

Dubbed Valley Company of Performing Arts, the group is now in the midst of forming a board of directors and moving toward incorporation.

Organizational efforts and initial funding ventures should take the better part of the next 2½ to 3 months.

Where and when the first production will take place is not known now, though the group meeting last week has tentatively scheduled an "extravaganza" for January to interest prospective patrons of the arts.

Among the key movers and doers are Fred and Marie Cochran, Gil and Pat Maines, and Mel Chew.

More on "The Company" as we get into December.

Chabot College's ambitious community relations has program scheduled another outstanding series for this winter.

Comedian Pat Paulsen will bring his ultra dry-wit to the college community auditorium (in Hayward) on Feb. 4 at 8 p.m.

Paulsen mixes live dialogue with film clips examining the various kinds of humor that have existed in the U.S.

Prior to Paulsen's appearance, Chabot will present the L.A. Mime Troup at the Amador Valley High auditorium on Jan. 15 at 8 p.m. The group is a regular feature of the Dick Van Dyke Show.

The Newport Jazz Festival All-Stars will appear on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Chabot auditorium.

Tickets for these events are priced at $2 and are available at the door and in advance at the Pleasanton Recreation Department, Chabot College book store, Office of Community Relations, and all Macy's, Capwells, and Emporium ticket offices.

While they probably won't get much if any recognition in the Academy Award sweepstakes, "Two Minute Warning" and "Bugsy Malone" merit a passing word or two, if for no other reason than movie-goers might be seeing one of the major talents of the future in Jody Foster.

Just 13 years old, Jody gained critical acclaim with her performance as the pre-teen streetwalker in "Taxi Driver."

In "Bugsy Malone," she plays the part of a gun moll in a cast made up entirely of kids. If you saw her picture in a recent edition of the Chronicle, you'll have noticed that the young lady is 13-going-on-23. Which can be a drawback unless one has the talent and the staying power.

I believe young Miss Foster just may have that staying power that former precocious child actresses Sue Lyon and Carol Lynley didn't have.

Amador Valley High dramatists can be seen in "You Can't Take It With You" on Nov. 23 and 24.

On Dec. 2, 3 and 4, California High drama instructor Jon Cretan will offer "The Night is My Enemy."

Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. are the final performances of "The Devil's Disciple" at Chabot College.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Dealing on a one-to-one basis is your strong suit today. You'll be especially fortunate with those who are practical and sincere.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A good day to implement changes you've carefully thought through. If you feel you've touched all bases, then get on with it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your influence will be felt on a broader scope today than before. You can now reach quarters previously closed to you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is a good day for you to assume the role of middleman in selling a product or service. You could wind up with a nifty little profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you are far better at handling mental endeavors. You'll be surprised at how quick and nimble your mind is.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be alert today for material opportunities with far-reaching effects. Put things together right. The benefits will be long-lasting.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have a chance to help an old friend today, do so. It'll make the bonds between you much stronger.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're in a unique position today to pull strings behind the scenes. Use your power wisely. It could be highly advantageous.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If there is a serious matter in your group or organization you want to bring to the attention of key people, this is the day!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have more control over a matter in which you're involved than you may realize. Avoid overt actions. Let others come to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One you're closely associated with may have a difficult decision to make today. Lend him your moral support.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If it comes down to the nitty-gritty in business today, don't be afraid to get a little tough. You'll come out ahead if you hold your ground.

Opening lead — J ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The student counted his winners before playing to trick one. There were eight top-card tricks and just one extra club trick would give him game and rubber.

He ducked the first heart on general principles, but had to win the second in dummy. Then he cashed dummy's queen of clubs, led a second club toward his hand and went up with his king. West dropped a low diamond and the student's fourth club trick had gone into limbo. Five minutes later the opponents had chalked up 100 points above the line.

"Wasn't I unlucky?" asked the student.

"Yes, you were," replied the Professor. "But you made your own bad luck. You only needed four club tricks. Once East followed to the second club you could be sure of four club tricks by simply finessing the ten spot.

"Your play of the king would have been correct if you had needed five club tricks, but you only needed four and should have taken the safety play to insure yourself against the actual club break."

Ask the Jacobys

A Nevada reader wants to know what you should bid in second seat after a one-club opening bid to your right. You hold:

♠ A Q x x x ♥ x ♦ A Q x x x ♣ x x.

The correct overcall is one spade. You hope to be able to show diamonds later. Do not make a takeout double because of your singleton heart.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dons romp in soccer opener

CONCORD — Defending champions seldom have anything that could be termed a glaring weakness. "Chafing annoyance" is usually a better description of any problems they might have.

The Amador Valley High School soccer team is apparently going to be no exception. Getting strong performances from players listed well down the depth chart, the Dons sailed through a 5-1 win over host De La Salle here yesterday.

"Our fullbacks played out of position at times," said Amador Valley coach Mike Geib. "Consequently, we played a lot of the second half in front of our net — and there's no way Livermore or Granada would have let us get away with it.

But other than a few wishes for a deeper midfield and defense, Geib could find little else to complain about after his team's opening game win.

"Keith Clay did a terrific job at half," he said, beginning a litany of praise. Sophomore inside John Peterson and junior goalie David Perez were also singled out for plaudits.

Joe Correia, a junior starting his third season on the varsity, got the scoring going for the Dons, finding the net nine minutes into the game off an assist from sophomore Keith Crow. That ended Correia's statistical heroics, but Joe kept up constant pressure on DLS goalkeeper Joe Garaventa, even after the Spartan had saved Amador shots.

"Joe's got some moves that are pretty tough to beat," Geib pointed out needlessly. "He's gotta worry any goalie."

Then came Crow. Teaming with right wing Mike Hansen, Crow scored twice, the second on a curling 15-yard grounder into the right hand corner of the net. Although he played no soccer last year and wasn't anticipated as a starter, Crow came in for a dose of Geib's cheerful praise.

"Kevin's got real good ball sense," Geib said. "But, even though he played well, he's going to be pushed by John Castillo (who scored AV's 4th goal), who's had some super, super practice sessions.

Elected a co-captain by his team mates, Castillo was being held out of the front line, pending the final word on goalie Perez. Though all the ballots still aren't counted, David's five-save performance yesterday would seem to make it safe to try Castillo, who played in goal a year ago, on the forward line.

Although they lost several key players from their 1975-76 East Bay Athletic League championship squad, the Dons are still a young and experienced team.

With only seven seniors on the team, Amador boasts 14 years of total varsity experience. Geib's proclivity toward underclassmen accounts for the trend. While the Dons don't have even a token freshman on the roster this season, they do have four sophs.

"It seems to me, if they're near enough to play, they've got to get that varsity experience," he said, recalling why he had brought Correia and fullback Steve Englebrick along early in previous seasons.

But Geib doubts any freshmen will get the call this year.

"I can't see bringing up any JV's," he admitted. We've already got the second largest squad we've ever had."

Yesterday, the Dons got at least the fourth weirdest goal they've ever had.

With the score standing at 4-1 — as the result of a De La Salle goal jabbed into the ceiling of the net by Mike Ponce off a crossing pass from bandana - headed Joel Ferrer — the Spartans' Scott Wentling tried to slop the ball back to Garaventa, but got too sloppy.

The ball wound up in the cage unmolested and the generous Amador scorekeepers awarded the tally to left wing Mark Lauer, the last Don to have touched the ball.

Statistically, Amador outshot the Spartans, 23-9, and had an identical number of corner kicks, 4-4. Garaventa had eight saves. The Dons now draw a bye till the 27th when they help Moreau inaugurate night soccer at the Hayward parochial school.

A Saturday game with Newark had to be cancelled since the Newark coach also handles the Ohlone College team, a club just recently eliminated from the California Community College play-offs.

Rudi, Campy depart A's

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Owner Gene Autry reached into his saddlebags for some more money Wednesday and signed outfielder Joe Rudi for the California Angels and baseball's free agent auction continued in high gear.

In addition to Rudi, two quality infielders — Dave Cash and Bert Campaneris — also reached terms through negotiations conducted by agent Jerry Kapstein. Cash went to the Montreal Expos and Campaneris signed with the Texas Rangers.

All three signings were significant but California's acquisition of Rudi was the day's biggest news, coming on the heels of Tuesday's signing by the Angels of another free agent outfielder, Don Baylor.

"Gene Autry has made a commitment to the people of Southern California that after 16 years, he wants to give his loyal fans a championship team," said Kapstein.

The Angels lost three minor league infielders in the draft and so are eligible to sign one more of the big names still available. Whether they do depends on how much is left in the free-agent kitty of Autry, the former singing cowboy.

Though he wasn't saying what he got, Rudi rode off with a healthy supply of Angel money. The veteran outfielder had another productive season with Oakland in 1976, batting .270 with 13 home runs and 94 runs batted in.

Both Campaneris and Cash reached agreement in the early hours of Tuesday morning, climaxing marathon negotiations conducted by Kapstein, who now has signed half of the 10 free agents he represents. Still available from his list are infielder Bobby Grich and pitchers Don Gullett, Wayne Garland, Rollie Fingers and Doyle Alexander.

Cal hosts NCS spiker playoffs

The first - ever North Coast Section 3-A Girls Volleyball Championships begin today at four different locations.

Although schools from the Valley area will be without representation, the East Bay Athletic League will send two teams to the tourney.

San Ramon High, winner of the EBAL playoff between the Wolves, Monte Vista and Dublin, opens up play in the Tri-Valley Area Championships at California High in San Ramon at 6 p.m.

The Wolves face the Mission Valley Athletic League's second - place finisher, American, currently on the heels of a ten - game winning streak.

Monte Vista High will play an at-large team in the Northern Area Championships being held at San Rafael High School at 6 p.m.

The Mustangs, who landed the berth as a result of a fine showing in last weekend's Catholic Athletic League tournament, face powerful Tamalpais in their opener.

In the Tri - Valley Area Championships at Cal High, San Ramon attempts to continue its blazing serving and spiking that led to a pair of two- game victories over Dublin and Monte Vista for the East Bay Athletic League championship.

Kathleen Guthrie, a solid all-EBAL choice, utilizes an effective low, hard serve that was most instrumental in the San Ramon wins.

Guthrie served for 14 consecutive points in the Wolves' narrow win over Livermore during the EBAL season, then came back to put away Dublin and Monte Vista with her magical hands.

Spiker Debbie Lloyd, also an all-EBAL pick, can leap high above the net to pick up crucial points for the Wolves. Against Monte Vista in the playoff finale, carried the momentum when Guthrie wasn't serving by handling well the San Ramon front line.

American, who lost three of their first four MVAL encounters but finished second by winning their last ten in a row, also have strong servers in Chris Domeier and Lani McAneney.

Spiker Diana John, according to head coach Deborah Joseph, is the MVAL's premier spiker.

Mary Ann Paz, coach of San Ramon, feels the Wolves are strong at both serving and spiking but lack precision in setting.

American High is faced with the near - identical problem. After the servers and spikers have had their chances, the winner of the match may well be the team who can best keep the volleys going without htting them out of bounds.

Clayton Valley and Mission San Jose meet in the other Tri - Valley, game, starting at 4 p.m.

The Eagles are champions of the Diablo Valley Athletic League and have a 16-1 overall record. They are led by super - spiker Lynn Harrison, who snuffed 22 putaways in one game this year. Starry Suttich went to the Junior Nationals and is top setter for Harrison. Diane Chan and Sharon York are top servers.

Mission San Jose's Warriors went 12-2 in league play to take first place in the MVAL by a whisker over fast - closing American. Ellen O'Connor and Renee Davis are top servers while Debbie Helmholz (5-10) is the premier spiker.

The winners of the first two games meet at 8 p.m. in the championship finale, with the winner of that game advancing to Saturday's NCS 3-A finals at Acalanes Hiph School in Lafayette, bepinning at 4 p.m.

While San Ramon has the added advantage of play-

Matthews to play for Braves?

ATLANTA — A spokesman for the Atlanta Braves all but confirmed a published report Wednesday that former San Francisco Giants outfielder Gary Matthews will play in Atlanta next season.

The spokesman, Bob Hope, said when asked about a copyrighted story in the San Francisco Examiner which said that Matthews, who played out his option with the Giants last season, would join the Braves Thursday: "That might be a helluva guess."

The Braves have scheduled a Thursday morning news conference, and the information released then "will bring joy to Atlanta and the Southeast," Hope said.

"I think you can draw your own conclusions," he said.

The Examiner story quoted Matthews as saying he received an offer from Atlanta "that virtually insured my future, even after I finish playing."

Close playoff match-ups

Any team that makes a sectional play-off in its respective sport is bound to have some outstanding individual talent and, in the long run, it's those individuals who determine how the team is going to do.

For Pinole Valley, their offensive individuals added up to 24 points per game while their defense yielded just ten. Granada, their foes in the Northern Bracket of the North Coast Section football play-offs, averaged a 24-12 victory this season.

Thus, Pinole could be favored by one point over the Mats by some one playing the numbers game.

In the Southern bracket, Livermore aveaged a 22-14 win while opponent Washington's typical performance was a 24-10 triumph, giving them a three-point edge over the 'Pokes.

But it comes down to the individual's and here's how they compare for the full season (pre-season and league games):

Diane explores the sights of Shanghai

NOTE: Diane Dunbar, the Pleasanton gymnast is a quiet sort. No one who's met her would doubt that. But just how quiet couldn't be judged till yesterday.

Diane's mother Micki, after reading the first few excerpts from her daughter's trip to China with the US national team, said, "There's stuff in here she hasn't even told us!"

At any rate, the Times serialization of Dunbar's journal continues for the next few issues — complete with photos.

SATURDAY, OCT. 30

Woke up at 7:15 a.m. I can't sleep very well here. I guess I'm still not used to the time change.

We had to have our bags out by the door at 7:45 because we are going to Shanghai today.

Went to breakfast today and still can't eat the eggs. They are cooked in peanut oil. We are now on the plane and I'm sitting next to Linda and Kathy.

Linda said that she asked one of the interpreters why the Chinese girl gymnasts were so brave on the beam and he said that it is because Chairman Mao said the Chinese should have courage and be brave.

Shanghai is another world. It is so much different from Northern China. It is warmer (70 degrees), has more people, looks more like a city, has a higher standard of living, lots of buses, not quite as many bikes — but still not cars.

We rode right through the middle of Shanghai from the airport and this city is hopping compared to Peking. People are much friendlier, better dressed and don't look so worn down.

This is an industrial city. The people of China didn't want the people here to make more money, but it was impossible for them not to. It is near the water, so agriculture, farming and industry is much greater here.

There are political posters all over Shanghai; pictures and posters in which Mao's widow and all the people on her side were crossed out of.

There are posters that go into great detail on what is going on politically in China. They told us not to take pictures of these posters or of the rallies.

There are rallies in which hundreds of people come to demonstrate that they are with the new government and that they are with Chairman Hua.

Our hotel is nice — again — and we had American food for lunch. They served chicken and French fries with honey-dew melon for dessert. Their juices taste like Alka-Seltzer, so we will be living on water.

A tall glass of non-fat milk would taste good about now.

After lunch they took us to a "sports school" and showed us around. The school opened in 1959 and has an enrollment of about 400 students and 200 teachers.

It takes in grades five through twelve. Students are selected from primary schools on the basis of their athletic and scholastic abilities.

In the morning, they have normal studies and in the afternoon, practice their sport. Two evenings a week they have normal studies and two evenings they have recreational activities.

They are government supported and have to live at the school. We saw them playing volleyball, baseball, basketball, swimming, karate, ping - pong, gymnastics and track & field while we were there.

The students are required to take track and field and one "ball" sport, in addition to whatever they are majoring in. After they graduate from this school, they will go to the Physical Culture College or Shanghai Normal University.

The gymnastics students and the kung-fu students put on an exhibition for us. They did routines with a spear, a sword, a long pole, two swords, a chain, sword and chain together and three sticks on a chain vs. a pole.

It was fantastic to watch. The gymnasts were all very young. The men were really good on side horse and pee-bars. Jean said he learned a lot from them.

The girls were also good for their age. They were all rails. After their exhibition, we worked out — what little we could do. Their FX mat was a thick rug on a wooden floor, so we didn't tumble.

Their board was one from the 1800's — hard as rock — so we couldn't vault. Their bars were about 50 years old and the high bar was decaying, so we could only use the low bar. Their beams were good, so we did beam.

Tomorrow we get to work on the meet equipment...

Just got back from another banquet. I don't know all that we ate, but it wasn't too bad.

Roast duck (tasted like turkey), chicken with cooked rice (crunchy), shrimp mandarin, sweet and sour fish, walnut soup, sweet rice and other stuff I don't remember

— by Diane Dunbar

Tomorrow: Halloween and acupuncture.

ing in what is considered by most coaches one of the Bay Area's toughest leagues, Coach Paz will have to rely on the strength of Guthrie and Lloyd, combined with top efforts from setters Jenny Cartano and front-liner Donna Gallagher, in order to compete with the rest.

American High, at this point in the season, is a better team than Mission San Jose, and could prove very troublesome for the Wolves. Clayton Valley, with only two returning starters, looks to be the team to beat, if they can first get by the Eagles. The DVAL champs defeated highly regarded Tamalpais twice, both times in two games, in a tournament over the weekend.

Monte Vista, who themselves tangle with Tamalpais in the Northern Area competition, needs to receive top-notch efforts from Carol Dolsby and Sue Collar, the only two seniors on the squad, while all-EBAL junior Karin Fischer must spike with authority.

The Mustangs couldn't buy a setup in their two - game loss to San Ramon for the EBAL championship, due mainly to Guthrie's slicing serves. Dolsby and setters Kathy Callaghan and Linda Silva must change that in today's match.

The Tamalpais squad will be plenty-up for the game after losing twice to Clayton Valley last weekend. With a 15-1 league record and overall slate of 22-4, the Marin County Champions are led by servers Mila Bird and Kimi Jessup. Lisa Homen is top setter. Their only other losses ocurred to Redwood and Holy Names in the finals of the Monte Vista - San Ramon tourney earlier in the year.

The Northern Area's other game pits Holy Names vs. El Cerrito at 4 p.m. The winner of that game meets the MV-Tamalpais, with the champion likewise advancing to Saturday's finals at Acalanes High School.

Dedication set for tot lot at Loma Alta

PLEASANTON — More than two years of planning and hard work will get its final reward at 2 p.m. Saturday when members of the Loma Alta Playground Action Committee see the formal dedication of the tot lot they built with funds they raised themselves. The group raised $5,000 through flea markets, auctions, snow cone sales, and other fund - raising devices. Amateurs became self - taught experts in reading plans, hauling lumber and ordering playground equipment.

The play area is comprised of three lodgepole structures, including a platform climber with a two chute slide, a six seat swing, and an A - frame climber with two tire swings, and two springoboards, all in sand surrounded with a concrete curb.

A volunteer work force from the Pleasanton Meadows area spent six Saturdays of dawn - to - dusk energy constructing the tot lot.

The 40 or so builders of the lot had a feeling of pride and accomplishment. The whole project has brought more friendship to families in the neighborhood.

"This is truly a great dream brought to reality by parents who were not concerned by material gain for their energies, but only about better conditions for their children and did something about it," said a spokesperson for LAPAC.

"Although parents have built play areas in school grounds before, this one is unique," said the spokesperson. "This play area was built in a public park by private citizens who chose not to sit back and wait until the city could do it alone. Instead, with the city's encouragement and assistance, they constructed a play area for public use without causing a rise in taxes to pay for it."

Golf class open

LIVERMORE — Registration for the winter series of golf lessons offered by Livermore Area Recreation and Park District is being taken at LARPD offices, 71 Trevarno Road.

The classes will be taught by golf professionals Doug Brooks and Dan Lippstreu at Los Positas course. The six week sessions will cost $10.50.

The Tuesday class from 4 to 5 p.m. runs from Nov. 30 to Jan. 4, Adult intermediate. Wednesday classes are from 1 to 2 p.m., Dec. 1 to Jan. 5, Beginners One and Two. Saturdays from 2 to 3 p.m., Dec. 4 through Jan. 22, Beginners One and Two aged 12 years and up.

Saturday, Dec. 4 through Jan. 22, from 3 to 4 p.m. are for adults, Beginners One and Two. There will be no classes Dec. 25 and Jan. 1.

Talk on expanded tax base

DUBLIN — American Legion Post 606 of Dublin will be awarded the Arthur E. King memorial trophy Monday, Nov. 29 during ceremonies at the Veterans Memorial building in Hayward.

The trophy pertains to the veterans group color guard. Presentations will start at 7:30 p.m.

Post 606 won the award while participating in the annual western states Veterans Day parade.

"Even though it rained the day of the parade the spirits of the participants were not dampened," said Allen Strutz, chairman of the Alameda county Veterans Affairs Commission.

Christmas book list for kids at library

Parents looking for books as Christmas gifts for children may want to look at a free pamphlet at the Dublin and Pleasanton Libraries which contains 55 books chosen for young people from preschool to preteen age.

The list was compiled by the children's services staff of the two libraries. There is also a special reading list for the entire family and ideas for magazine subscriptions.

Books on the list are on display in the children's sections of the Pleasanton and Dublin libraries. Local bookstores are cooperating with the libraries and will have most of the titles available for purchase.

The books were selected to include a mixture of new and old and highlight books which can become a favorite part of a child's permanent library.

Supporting bookstores are Sage Books and Plaza Books in Pleasanton, Liberty House in Dublin and Rakestraw Books in Danville.

The Dublin Library is located at 6930 Village Parkway, Dublin, 828-1315 and the Pleasanton Library is at 4333 Black Ave., Pleasanton, 462-3535.

Trophy for Dublin's Legion post

LIVERMORE — Manny Gorland, Livermore's new director of community development, will explain how tax base expansion can be hastened by industrial and commercial prospects when he appears as guest speaker tonight at a meeting of the American Taxpayers' Union.

Gorland will explain factors which business evaluates and considers when looking over the Livermore area as a potential site. A question and answer period will follow the talk which is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Livermore public library, 1000 S. Livermore Ave. The public is invited.

Christmas crafts

PLEASANTON — St. Augustine's Women's Club Christmas Boutique will be held Sunday, Nov. 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the C.C.D. Hall, 900 East Angela St. It will feature handmade crafts, street artists, bingo, soup and subs from the kitchen, movies for the children, raffle, Santa and fun for all.

Second collection concert Sunday

PLEASANTON — The refreshing sounds of The Second Collection, five piece contemporary gospel singing group, well known in this area, will present a free concert on Nov. 21, 7 to 9 p.m. at St. Augustine's Catholic Church, 900 East Angela St.

Their album, made two years ago, entitled "Look Beyond", has sold 2,400 copies. For eight years they have provided music every Sunday at the 9 a.m. mass at St. Augustine's Church and for the Easter Sunrise services each year at Shadow Cliffs Park.

The group, composed of Mark and Mike Hagerty, Carolyn Cardinalli, Jim Santo and Cindy Bradshaw, consider their group a musical ministry, but they do not sing the traditional old time gospel music. They sing contemporary music such as "Oh Happy Day" and "He Touched Me."

The Second Collection has sung at schools, hospitals and prisons as an expression of their musical ministry. They appear at the Federal Youth Prison often. They also appear at churches of all denominations.

Their concert, which started as an appreciation night for them given by the parish of St. Augustine's Church, ended up a concert given by the group. It will be a sharing type concert, a sing-along to which everyone is invited. They invite you to tune up your vocal chords and come join in.

Young pupils' grading hit

LIVERMORE — "Hey, Mom! I got an 'A' in building with blocks!"

Grade - conscious parents may want little Joey to work for A's and B's, starting right from kindergarten. But a growing number think it's a bad idea to compare kids when what you're measuring is not how hard they work or how bright they are, but how well they can balance, or sit still, or color.

Petitions are circulating in Livermore to stop the Livermore Unified School District from allowing letter grades in kindergarten. Mary Maenchen, early childhood expert who is heading the crusade, presented one petition to the school board at their Tuesday night meeting and promised many more by the next meeting.

Trustees recently approved a district policy allowing parents to request letter grades in place of the anecdotal report card now in use.

That's fine for the upper grades, Maenchen told trustees, but potentially damaging to five - year - old tots who are already being labeled as mediocre students just because they're a little bit younger or a little bit slower to develop than their classmates.

Trustees Betty Carrell and Ken Engelund enthusiastically agreed with her.

"I'd like to see that extended, perhaps up to third grade," Carrell suggested of the proposed change in policy.

In other business, the board heard a request from Livermore Education Association president Barbara Brunke to speed up negotiations between LEA and the board.

"The last two meetings were 10 days apart," she said. "We offered to meet tomorrow for as long as it would take to make significant progress, but were told it would be impossible to extend the one and a half - hour time limit."

She added the negotiations were taking place after school so they wouldn't infringe on classroom time.

County board meets tonight

The Alameda County School Boards Association will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at His Lordships Restaurant in Berkeley.

Valley officers on the board include Betty Nostrand of Pleasanton and Manuel Prado.

Mori unit eyes special education

Assemblyman Floyd Mori's Valley Education Advisory Committee will hear a presentation on the master plan for Special Education at a meeting tonight in the Amador - Pleasanton school district offices.

Th meeting convenes at 7:30 p.m. in the district office conference room, 123 Main St., Pleasanton.

Dr. Harry Larsen of the Contra Costa County Schools Office will talk about the reform plan proposed for Special Education.

"The Parent Advisory Committee on Special Education for the Livermore Unified School District informed me of their concern with the kind of programs and financial support being offered to educationally handicapped students in the valley. I felt their concern was important enough to make this subject the topic of the meeting," Mori said.

"I have obtained information on the Master Plan, a state-legislated reform program for Special Education which is being implemented in a few counties and districts throughout the state, including Contra Costa County. I hope to center our discussion around the topic of whether or not this reform program is successful in better meeting the needs of exceptional children," Mori added.

Mori encourages everyone who is interested in Special Education to attend this meeting tonight.

Foothill High honors senior athlete, B-plus student

PLEASANTON— Craig Johnson has been selected as Foothill High School'ssecond Student - of - the - Month for the 1976-77 school year.

A senior at Foothill, Craig has participated in the school's athletic program where he was a halfback on the varsity football team and played a total of three seasons of football. He has also run the 100, 220, 440, 330 low hurdles and relay events for the track team.

Craig maintains a 3.4 (B-plus) grade point average. He has undertaken the task of accounting the student body books, which the Student - of - the - Month Committee states is a tremendous task.

Craig plans to attend San Jose State University in the fall and major in accounting. He intends on continuing in athletics, thereby continuing the valley "pipeline" to San Jose of outstanding athletes that has included Rayford Roberson from Dublin and Rich Kane from Pleasanton.

Turkey draw to aid band

PLEASANTON — The Foothill High School band is holding a turkey drawing this week.

Proceeds from this fund - raiser will help defray the transportation costs of the 125-member Foothill marching band's Southern California trip to Disneyland and competition at the All-Western Band Review in Long Beach. The band leaves Nov. 25.

Drawing will be Monday, Nov. 22.

First-prize winner of the turkey drawing will win the fixings for a complete turkey dinner for ten (10). Second - prize winner will receive a 15-pound turkey. Third - prize winner will receive 10 pounds of sugar and the fourth prize winner will win a ten-pound turkey.

Filing date nears for school boards

The filing period for school district trustee positions in Alameda and Contra Costa counties begins Thursday, Dec. 9 and runs through Friday, Dec. 30.

Valley school boards face major upheavals if the list of trustee term expiration dates is any criteria.

The Amador Valley Joint High School District, Pleasanton Joint School District, San Ramon and Murray school district boards have a total of 11 trustees whose terms will expire in March of 1977.

Candidates for board positions may pick up candidacy papers at either the County Schools Office, 224 W. Winton Ave. in Hayward, or at the County Registrar of Voters Office in Oakland.

Trustees whose terms expire in March include Wally Decker, president, Wayne Barnes, clerk, and Jack Delaney, Amador district; Harold Zuckerman president, Virginia Jouris, and Joseph DeHope, San Ramon; Al Dutchover, president, Karen Finn, and Dennis Reidy, Pleasanton; Dr. Ted Woy, president, and Linda Jefery, Murray.

Mrs. Jeffery was elected to fill the unexpired term of Joanne Bascom and Reidy was appointed to complete the term of Dr. Guy Clark.

If you get a pilotless gas range, you can get this spice rack, free.

We're not encouraging you to buy a new gas range. But if you do, we want you to know that many manufacturers are offering pilotless ignition models.

The advantage is easy to see. Forty percent of the gas used by a conventional gas range is just to keep the pilot operating 24 hours a day. But a pilotless range can save that 40%, so you'll save precious gas energy, and money, too.

If you buy a pilotless ignition gas range from a "We Care" dealer between now and November 30, your dealer will hand you a spice rack and set of 12 spices with a retail value of $12.95.

This program is sponsored by the Electric & Gas Industries Association, as part of a campaign to conserve energy, and PG&E is proud to be part of it.

So, if you need a new gas range, don't buy just any model. Get one with a pilotless ignition – it really saves energy.

A new 'Jaws' suffocates

HONOLULU (AP) — "Megamouth," a huge deep-sea shark caught by accident and thought to be a new species, has the jaws of a movie star. But scientists say his feeding habits probably would make him less than fearsome.

The 12-foot, 1,500-pound shark was hauled in from the Pacific Ocean depths — 500 to 1,000 feet down — just off Oahu this week. He had become entangled in the anchor lines of a Navy research vessel and apparently suffocated because he could not move enough to provide respiration.

"It was just a fortunate circumstance for us," said Leighton Taylor, director of the Waikiki Aquarium at the University of Hawaii. "An unfortunate one for the shark, however."

Taylor and another ichthyologist, Paul J. Struhsaker of the National Marine Fisheries Service, are studying the fish, which has been placed on ice at a local tuna cannery for preservation until a container his size can be built.

"We think it's a new species, a new genus and a new family of shark," Taylor said. Scientists at the Scripps Institute in La Jolla, Calif. — after hearing a description by telephone — agreed that the shark probably had not been identified previously, he said.

Taylor said he gave the shark the nickname "Megamouth" because its mouth is "huge." But he said that judging from its tiny teeth, the fish fed on small sea life and wouldn't even have been tempted by a baited hook.

"We'll know more about what he eats when we cut him open, but we don't want to do that now because it would make things kind of messy down at the cannery," he said.

The shark was identified as a male. Taylor said there was some calcification of the bones, showing that the fish was mature.

He also said the shark may have been equipped with a headlight.

"There is some evidence he can produce bioluminescence because there appear to be photophores in the mouth area," said Taylor. He said many fish living at the shark's depth can produce light.

'Showtime has big name movies that we can see on our own TV at home.'

MR. HAGERMAN, DUBLIN, CALIF.

"We saw The Longest Yard so many times, my kids loved it." MRS. ALICE STODDARD

"Young Frankenstein, that was great, anybody's a Mel Brooks fan." MR. BILL GREY

"It's like having my very own movie house." MRS. WILSON

"I wouldn't get to see the movies I see if we didn't have Showtime." MR. GARY BALLARD

These are comments from a few of the more than 15,000 people who are now enjoying Showtime in the Tri-Valley area. With a simple TV cable hookup, you can have Showtime and watch first-run movies right in your own home.

In the next few months you can see The Hindenburg, Shampoo, Funny Lady, Blazing Saddles, Rooster Cogburn, The Man Who Would Be King, and Robert Redford in Three Days of the Condor. Movies that may not appear on regular TV for years.

And Showtime is reasonably priced. You can get a whole month of shows for what it costs you to go to the movies. Once.

"I think it's one of the greatest innovations since cable TV itself, for home entertainment." MR. WILSON

Skilled consultants to aid non-profit groups in Bay Area

More than 100 management consultants from all over the Bay Area are participating in a new project, the first of its type in the nation, to assist non-profit and community organizations.

The "Community Training and Development Project," sponsored by the Youth Project and the Golden Gate chapter of the American Society for Training and Development (ASTD), started in San Francisco this summer.

The project's purpose is to provide consultants free of charge to non-profit groups as an effort to increase the effectiveniess of these groups. The volunteering consultants have pledged more than 400 days of training and consulting this year to groups in the nine Bay Area counties.

They will provide assistance in management and supervisory skills training, board-staff relations, setting goals and objectives, conflict resolution, team building, etc., a society spokesman said.

By applying— through these consultants— the same organizational development and training skills used by government and private industry to the needs of non-profit agencies, the project is helping community groups to more effectively accomplish their goals.

The Youth Project, a small public foundation now six years old, is working with ASTD to coordinate this project through a grant from the San Francisco Foundation.

If this six-month pilot project is successful it will become a prototype for the other 99 ASTD chapters in the nation, according to director Joanne Schnautz.

Non-profit and community groups wishing to work with the professional consultants may contact the Community Training and Development Project, 149 9th St., San Francisco 94103, or phone 626-1033.

Foothill High band wins Stockton test

The Foothill High School band won top honors in its category for the third straight year at the University of Pacific's Band Day held last Saturday in Stockton.

The Falcons, under the baton of Robert Moorefield, captured first place in competition for high schools with enrollments of 750 to 1,500 students. Moorefield is a Pacific graduate.

Second-place went to Half Moon Bay and third was East Union of Manteca.

Concord was honored, for the sixth consecutive year, as the top marching band in competition with schools of 1,500 students or more. Second-place went to Lodi and third was Luther Burbank of Sacramento.

All of the award winners received trophies. There was a total of of 40 high schools from throughout Northern and Central California participating in the event, which included marching in the parade and performing at halftime of the Pacific-San Jose State football game.

Long-term jobless can't find work

WASHINGTON (AP) — New government studies suggest that the long-term unemployed are unable to find jobs and are not chiselers who "ride with the system" at government expense.

The studies — one by the Labor Department and another prepared for the government by a private firm — show that the overwhelming majority of those who had exhausted their jobless benefits were still unemployed a year after the benefits ended.

The findings tend to rebut arguments by some economists and politicians that unemployment benefits discourage people from looking for work and that those who use up their benefits either quickly get jobs or drop out of the labor market.

Labor Department figures show that more than 2.7 million Americans exhausted their benefits from January 1975 through last July. The latest figures show there were 7.6 million persons out of work but seeking it in October. This was a jobless rate of 7.9 per cent.

The Labor Department found in a four-state sampling that 80 per cent of those surveyed were still in the labor force two months after their benefits ran out, but only 16 per cent found jobs.

The other survey, based on interviews in four major cities by Mathematica Policy Research of Princeton, N.J., showed that about 25 per cent of the "exhaustees" were working within four months after benefits stopped and that only 36 per cent found jobs after one year.

The surveys found that despite federal law banning age discrimination in employment, about 70 per cent of the exhaustees "were beyond the prime working years, that is, 45 years of age or older."

Taste Barrier Broken.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough ends struggle to bring taste to low tar smoking.

For years, dependency on tar for taste has created a taste barrier for low tar smoking.

Now that barrier has been broken. Broken for good by a remarkable new cigarette called MERIT.

MERIT is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

The result of a radical new discovery so successful at boosting flavor, MERIT actually delivers the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. of tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

Tests Verify Taste

MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were involved. The majority report: even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT still delivered as much—or more—taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.
